

FOR NURSING & ALLIED-HEALTH PROGRAMS

Clinical-program physicals

The physical, titers, TB test and vaccines — started in one walk-in visit.

Nursing, dental, EMS, medical-assistant and allied-health programs ask for the same bundle: a physical, proof of immunity, a TB test and the hepatitis B series. Both Broward clinics work through your program's form line by line, seven days a week.

✓ Titers drawn on site

✓ TB skin test or IGRA blood test

✓ Vaccines at the same visit

✓ Open 7 days · no appointment

What the packet covers

- ✓ History and physical examination, with height, weight, vision and vital signs where the form asks.
- ✓ Titers for measles, mumps, rubella, varicella and hepatitis B, drawn on site — and when a titer shows no immunity, the vaccine is given here.
- ✓ TB testing: the two-step skin test, or the single-visit blood test (IGRA) most programs now accept.
- ✓ Hepatitis B series or booster, tetanus, and the seasonal flu shot the program requires.
- ✓ The form completed and signed, plus a printed immunization record for your file.

A positive TB test?

When it is indicated, a chest X-ray is done on site the day the result is read, and documentation is prepared for your program.

Start before the deadline

- ✓ Titers take a few business days, and some vaccine series need weeks between doses.
- ✓ A two-step skin test needs four visits; the IGRA blood test needs one — ask which your program accepts.
- ✓ The signed form is issued when every required item is complete; interim documentation is provided when a program needs proof that testing is under way.

What to bring

- 1 The program's form and its list of required vaccines and tests.
- 2 Prior immunization records or titer results — in any language — to avoid repeat doses.
- 3 A photo ID.

Employers of your graduates — hospitals, dental offices, home-health agencies — can set up an employer account: onboarding physicals, with results reported to HR or employee health.
