

FOR MARITIME SCHOOLS, MARINERS & CAPTAINS

Merchant mariner physicals

The CG-719K exam and the CG-719P drug test collection in one walk-in visit.

Every Merchant Mariner Credential needs a Coast Guard medical certificate, and the exam behind it is the CG-719K. UrgentMed completes it — and the CG-719K/E for entry-level ratings — at Davie and Plantation, seven days a week.

✓ CG-719K & CG-719K/E

✓ CG-719P drug test collected at the visit

✓ Color vision & hearing tested

✓ Open 7 days · no appointment

What the CG-719K records

- ✓ Medical history and current medications — the Coast Guard reviews certain conditions and medications closely, so bring documentation.
- ✓ Vision: distance acuity with and without correction, color vision (required for deck ratings) and field of vision.
- ✓ Hearing, blood pressure, height, weight and BMI, and a general physical examination.
- ✓ The examiner's statement of fitness, with any conditions noted for the National Maritime Center to evaluate.

The CG-719P drug test

Original credentials and most renewals need a negative DOT five-panel drug test with chain of custody, reported on the CG-719P, or proof of enrollment in a random testing program. The test is collected at the same visit.

What to bring

- 1 The CG-719K (or CG-719K/E) printed from the National Maritime Center, with your sections completed.
- 2 Photo ID, glasses or contacts, hearing aids, a list of medications, and specialist letters for conditions the Coast Guard reviews.
- 3 Your mariner reference number if you have one; for a renewal, your current credential and medical certificate expiry date.

Officer or STCW endorsement?

The CG-719K/E is for entry-level ratings only; officer and STCW endorsements need the full CG-719K. You submit the signed form with your application to the National Maritime Center.

Most licensing physicals are self-pay; the front desk quotes the price before you are seen. When an employer has an account, the exams it orders are billed to that account.
