

FOR JOB SEEKERS & WORKFORCE PROGRAMS

Pre-employment & work physicals

A job offer that needs a physical? Walk in today — no appointment.

A pre-employment, new-hire or post-offer exam, matched to the job. The employer's form is completed and signed at the visit, and a drug screen can be collected in the same trip — at Davie and Plantation, seven days a week.

- ✓ Employer's form signed at the visit
- ✓ Drug screen in the same trip
- ✓ No appointment or referral
- ✓ Open 7 days · evenings & weekends

What the physical includes

- ✓ Medical history and medication review, height, weight, blood pressure and vital signs.
- ✓ Vision and hearing screening when the position requires it.
- ✓ A head-to-toe examination focused on the job's physical demands — lifting, standing, climbing, repetitive motion.
- ✓ Anything the employer adds: drug and alcohol screening, TB testing, titers or immunizations, an EKG or respirator clearance.
- ✓ The employer's form completed and signed, and results reported to the employer contact.

One visit, many names

Pre-employment physical, work physical, new-hire physical, post-offer exam — the same visit. The DOT physical for commercial drivers is a different exam, done here too.

What to bring

- 1 A photo ID and the employer's form or written instructions.
- 2 Glasses or contacts, and a list of current medications with doses.
- 3 Your immunization record, if the job requires titers or vaccines.
- 4 The employer's authorization or account name, if the company is paying.

Can you fail it?

It is not pass-or-fail like a driving test: the provider documents whether you can do the essential functions of the job, and you are told what will be written on the form before it is sent.

Lab add-ons — titers, a TB blood test, a lab-confirmed drug screen — are collected the same day and reported separately when the laboratory returns them, usually within a few business days.

Employer-ordered physicals are billed to the employer's account; if you are paying yourself, the front desk quotes the price before you are seen.
